The Heritage Family Day Series celebrates the diverse ethnic and cultural communities that have contributed to aviation and space exploration. Attendees learn about past and present contributions through presentations and activities for the entire family.

In 2014, a total of 148,000 people enjoyed Heritage Family Days.

The Heritage Family Day Series is made possible through the generous support of Northrop Grumman Corporation.

2014 Heritage Family Days:

February
- African American Pioneers in Aviation
  - February 8, 2014, at the Museum in Washington, DC, 10,800 attendees
  - February 22, 2014, at the Udvar-Hazy Center, 5,700 attendees

March
- Women in Aviation and Space
  - March 15, 2014, at the Udvar-Hazy Center, 6,500 attendees
- Kites of Asia
  - March 22, 2014, at the Museum in Washington, DC, 27,000 attendees

April
- Explore the Universe Day: Everyone Looks Up
  - April 12, 2014, at the Museum in Washington, DC, 35,500 attendees

August
- We Share STEM! Connecting Across Cultures: Heritage Family Day and Helicopter Fest
  - August 2, at the Udvar-Hazy Center, 10,500 attendees

September
- Women in Aerospace (in celebration of National Aerospace week)
  - September 13, 2014, at the Museum in Washington, DC, 23,300 attendees

October
- Hispanic Heritage Month: Innovators in Air and Space
  - In partnership with the Latino Center
  - October 11, 2014, at the Museum in Washington, DC, 28,300 attendees